Contestants will be required to execute an affidavit of eligibility and release of liability and waiver. All federal, state, and local taxes, and all other expenses associated with ownership of all prizes will be the responsibility of the winner. A 1099 tax form will be issued to the winner and filed with the Internal Revenue Service. Participation in the contest constitutes permission to use the contestants' name, likeness, and voice for any type of publicity purposes at the discretion of Centennial Bank and sponsors without additional compensation. All contest calls to The Point 94.1 FM may be taped for later broadcast or aired live.

All contestants will be subjected to a urinalysis at the beginning of the contest to ensure they are not under the influence of illegal drugs, any controlled substance or a stimulant causing a positive drug test. This test will be performed by an independent lab at the expense of the "Stuck on a Truck" sponsors. There will be random urinalysis during the remainder of the contest. If use of an illegal drug or controlled substance is detected from any contestant, such contestant will be disqualified. Any contestant may be disqualified should their continued participation threaten their health and well-being as decided by the attending judge.
